

Description

FULLTEC CUBE

Fulltec Cube is a strong blend of Plant Health components that will activate natural plant defenses, making plants more resistant to fungal and bacterial attacks. These Plant Health components, combined with Plant Nutrition at the right levels, are a key factor to have healthier plants and achieve better yields.

Main Benefits:

Protection

The natural fungicides and aminoacids built into Fulltec Cube will protect plants from most fungal and bacterial disease attacks.

Stay Green

The combination of nutrition with plant health keeps the leaves greener until the end of the crop's cycle.

Key Nutrients

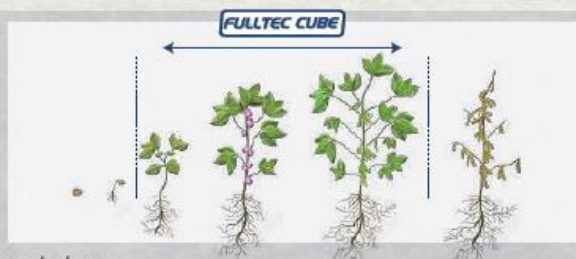

The nutrient package built into Fulltec Cube will keep more blooms on the plants and keep major diseases outside your fields.
